

Coding (EDTA-ERA codes)

ERA-EDTA codes are the standard diagnostic codes used for registering patients in our local renal datasytem, and for reporting to the UK Renal Registry.

- View or download the codes from the UK Renal Registry site here - if downloading, the Excel file is simplest to use.

These codes determine the information links shown to patients who access information through PatientView, so it is worth coding everyone whether or no they are in the registry reports. The new codes are a big improvement on the previous (1995) version but still don't show every possibility. Previous codes are listed alongside the new ones, with recommended default mapping. Use the new ones!

This page was updated to refer to latest codes and remove previous versions in Sept 2016.
